

COLORED GLASSES REVELATION

This game features one of the greatest impacts to boost up leadership and communication skills in developing confidence, competence, motivation, and creativity in others by allowing them to make use of their natural brain processing capabilities to execute strategy and find the solution to problems. This Training Game uncovers with great certainty, that what we hold to be true in our perception and the "correct" directions we should take, are illusions of how our brain genetically processes information and the world around it.

We often see things so clearly that, in our understanding, that is the only way to get the thing done, however others will also look at the same situation and find a different reality very clearly. The result is disagreement. Because our brain genetically processes information in specific processes, we are likely to observe the world through "Colored Glasses" and fail to recognize, effectively communicate with, and help to develop others who have different "Colored Glasses".

By recognizing that our reality is a outcome of our genetic processing and not "absolute" to everyone, we can harness complementary Processes that will enhance team and organizational efforts. Once recognized this revelation will broaden our range of tolerance and allow us to deal with these differences in a much more powerful and intelligent way creating a much more effective and less stressful environment.