

OPEN OFFER

This game is a very useful instrument in Leadership building which teaches players how to quickly build platforms as a group or a team. At the beginning one player starts a scene by making an 'incomplete' offer, in the sense that it is ambiguous enough not to define the who! what! where straight away. Then another player steps in, takes over and completes the scene.